My Savior and Redeemer,

about purity of heart. But the old man did not know Greek and no interpreter could be found. So, seeing our embarrassment, the old man began to speak Greek, saying, "The nature of water is soft, that of stone is hard; but if a bottle is hung directly above the stone, allowing the water to fall drop by drop, it wears away the stone. So it is with the word of God; it is soft and our heart is hard, but the man who hears the word of God often, opens his heart to the fear of God."

"A fisherman does not bait his hook with food he likes. He uses food the fish likes. So with boys." B.P.

Whatever a man loves, he desires at all costs to be near to continuously and uninterruptedly, and he turns himself away from everything that hinders him from being in contact and dwelling with the object of his love. It is clear therefore that he who loves God also desires always to be with Him and to converse with Him. This comes to pass in us through pure prayer. Accordingly, let us apply ourselves to prayer with all our power; for it enables us to become akin to God. Such a man was he who said: "O God, my God, I cry to Thee at dawn; my soul has thirsted for Thee" (Ps. 63:1 LXX). For the man who cries to God at dawn has withdrawn his intellect from every vice and clearly is wounded by divine love.

about purity of heart. But the old man did not know Greek and no interpreter could be found. So, seeing our embarrassment, the old man began to speak Greek, saying, "The nature of water is soft, that of stone is hard; but if a bottle is hung directly above the stone, allowing the water to fall drop by drop, it wears away the stone. So it is with the word of God; it is soft and our heart is hard, but the man who hears the word of God often, opens his heart to the fear of God."

"A fisherman does not bait his hook with food he likes. He uses food the fish likes. So with boys." B.P.

Whatever a man loves, he desires at all costs to be near to continuously and uninterruptedly, and he turns himself away from everything that hinders him from being in contact and dwelling with the object of his love. It is clear therefore that he who loves God also desires always to be with Him and to converse with Him. This comes to pass in us through pure prayer. Accordingly, let us apply ourselves to prayer with all our power; for it enables us to become akin to God. Such a man was he who said: "O God, my God, I cry to Thee at dawn; my soul has thirsted for Thee" (Ps. 63:1 LXX). For the man who cries to God at dawn has withdrawn his intellect from every vice and clearly is wounded by divine love.

When the women disciples of the Lord
Learned from the angel the joyous message of Thy Resurrection;
They cast away the ancestral curse and elatedly told the apostles:
Death is overthrown! Christ God is risen,
Granting the world great mercy.

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit, now and ever, and

My Savior and Redeemer,

about purity of heart. But the old man did not know Greek and no interpreter could be found. So, seeing our embarrassment, the old man began to speak Greek, saying, "The nature of water is soft, that of stone is hard; but if a bottle is hung directly above the stone, allowing the water to fall drop by drop, it wears away the stone. So it is with the word of God; it is soft and our heart is hard, but the man who hears the word of God often, opens his heart to the fear of God."

"A fisherman does not bait his hook with food he likes. He uses food the fish likes. So with boys." B.P.

Whatever a man loves, he desires at all costs to be near to continuously and uninterruptedly, and he turns himself away from everything that hinders him from being in contact and dwelling with the object of his love. It is clear therefore that he who loves God also desires always to be with Him and to converse with Him. This comes to pass in us through pure prayer. Accordingly, let us apply ourselves to prayer with all our power; for it enables us to become akin to God. Such a man was he who said: "O God, my God, I cry to Thee at dawn; my soul has thirsted for Thee" (Ps. 63:1 LXX). For the man who cries to God at dawn has withdrawn his intellect from every vice and clearly is wounded by divine love.

My Savior and Redeemer,

about purity of heart. But the old man did not know Greek and no interpreter could be found. So, seeing our embarrassment, the old man began to speak Greek, saying, "The nature of water is soft, that of stone is hard; but if a bottle is hung directly above the stone, allowing the water to fall drop by drop, it wears away the stone. So it is with the word of God; it is soft and our heart is hard, but the man who hears the word of God often, opens his heart to the fear of God."

"A fisherman does not bait his hook with food he likes. He uses food the fish likes. So with boys." B.P.

Whatever a man loves, he desires at all costs to be near to continuously and uninterruptedly, and he turns himself away from everything that hinders him from being in contact and dwelling with the object of his love. It is clear therefore that he who loves God also desires always to be with Him and to converse with Him. This comes to pass in us through pure prayer. Accordingly, let us apply ourselves to prayer with all our power; for it enables us to become akin to God. Such a man was he who said: "O God, my God, I cry to Thee at dawn; my soul has thirsted for Thee" (Ps. 63:1 LXX). For the man who cries to God at dawn has withdrawn his intellect from every vice and clearly is wounded by divine love.

My Savior and Redeemer,

about purity of heart. But the old man did not know Greek and no interpreter could be found. So, seeing our embarrassment, the old man began to speak Greek, saying, "The nature of water is soft, that of stone is hard; but if a bottle is hung directly above the stone, allowing the water to fall drop by drop, it wears away the stone. So it is with the word of God; it is soft and our heart is hard, but the man who hears the word of God often, opens his heart to the fear of God."

"A fisherman does not bait his hook with food he likes. He uses food the fish likes. So with boys." B.P.

Whatever a man loves, he desires at all costs to be near to continuously and uninterruptedly, and he turns himself away from everything that hinders him from being in contact and dwelling with the object of his love. It is clear therefore that he who loves God also desires always to be with Him and to converse with Him. This comes to pass in us through pure prayer. Accordingly, let us apply ourselves to prayer with all our power; for it enables us to become akin to God. Such a man was he who said: "O God, my God, I cry to Thee at dawn; my soul has thirsted for Thee" (Ps. 63:1 LXX). For the man who cries to God at dawn has withdrawn his intellect from every vice and clearly is wounded by divine love.

So it is with the word of God; it is soft and our heart is hard, but the man who hears the word of God often, opens his heart to the fear of God."

"A fisherman does not bait his hook with food he likes. He uses food the fish likes. So with boys." B.P.

Whatever a man loves, he desires at all costs to be near to continuously and uninterruptedly, and he turns himself away from everything that hinders him from being in contact and dwelling with the object of his love. It is clear therefore that he who loves God also desires always to be with Him and to converse with Him. This comes to pass in us through pure prayer. Accordingly, let us apply ourselves to prayer with all our power; for it enables us to become akin to God. Such a man was he who said: "O God, my God, I cry to Thee at dawn; my soul has thirsted for Thee" (Ps. 63:1 LXX). For the man who cries to God at dawn has withdrawn his intellect from every vice and clearly is wounded by divine love.

TROPARION—TONE 4

When the women disciples of the Lord
Learned from the angel the joyous message of Thy Resurrection;
They cast away the ancestral curse and elatedly told the apostles:
Death is overthrown! Christ God is risen,
Granting the world great mercy.

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit, now and ever, and unto ages of ages. Amen.

KONTAKION—TONE 4

My Savior and Redeemer,

about purity of heart. But the old man did not know Greek and no interpreter could be found. So, seeing our embarrassment, the old man began to speak Greek, saying, "The nature of water is soft, that of stone is hard; but if a bottle is hung directly above the stone, allowing the water to fall drop by drop, it wears away the stone. So it is with the word of God; it is soft and our heart is hard, but the man who hears the word of God often, opens his heart to the fear of God."

"A fisherman does not bait his hook with food he likes. He uses food the fish likes. So with boys." B.P.

Whatever a man loves, he desires at all costs to be near to continuously and uninterruptedly, and he turns himself away from everything that hinders him from being in contact and dwelling with the object of his love. It is clear therefore that he who loves God also desires always to be with Him and to converse with Him. This comes to pass in us through pure prayer. Accordingly, let us apply ourselves to prayer with all our power; for it enables us to become akin to God. Such a man was he who said: "O God, my God, I cry to Thee at dawn; my soul has thirsted for Thee" (Ps. 63:1 LXX). For the man who cries to God at dawn has withdrawn his intellect from every vice and clearly is wounded by divine love.

My Savior and Redeemer,

about purity of heart. But the old man did not know Greek and no interpreter could be found. So, seeing our embarrassment, the old man began to speak Greek, saying, "The nature of water is soft, that of stone is hard; but if a bottle is hung directly above the stone, allowing the water to fall drop by drop, it wears away the stone. So it is with the word of God; it is soft and our heart is hard, but the man who hears the word of God often, opens his heart to the fear of God."

"A fisherman does not bait his hook with food he likes. He uses food the fish likes. So with boys." B.P.

Whatever a man loves, he desires at all costs to be near to continuously and uninterruptedly, and he turns himself away from everything that hinders him from being in contact and dwelling with the object of his love. It is clear therefore that he who loves God also desires always to be with Him and to converse with Him. This comes to pass in us through pure prayer. Accordingly, let us apply ourselves to prayer with all our power; for it enables us to become akin to God. Such a man was he who said: "O God, my God, I cry to Thee at dawn; my soul has thirsted for Thee" (Ps. 63:1 LXX). For the man who cries to God at dawn has withdrawn his intellect from every vice and clearly is wounded by divine love.

My Savior and Redeemer,

about purity of heart. But the old man did not know Greek and no interpreter could be found. So, seeing our embarrassment, the old man began to speak Greek, saying, "The nature of water is soft, that of stone is hard; but if a bottle is hung directly above the stone, allowing the water to fall drop by drop, it wears away the stone. So it is with the word of God; it is soft and our heart is hard, but the man who hears the word of God often, opens his heart to the fear of God."

"A fisherman does not bait his hook with food he likes. He uses food the fish likes. So with boys." B.P.

Whatever a man loves, he desires at all costs to be near to continuously and uninterruptedly, and he turns himself away from everything that hinders him from being in contact and dwelling with the object of his love. It is clear therefore that he who loves God also desires always to be with Him and to converse with Him. This comes to pass in us through pure prayer. Accordingly, let us apply ourselves to prayer with all our power; for it enables us to become akin to God. Such a man was he who said: "O God, my God, I cry to Thee at dawn; my soul has thirsted for Thee" (Ps. 63:1 LXX). For the man who cries to God at dawn has withdrawn his intellect from every vice and clearly is wounded by divine love.

So it is with the word of God; it is soft and our heart is hard, but the man who hears the word of God often, opens his heart to the fear of God."

"A fisherman does not bait his hook with food he likes. He uses food the fish likes. So with boys." B.P.

Whatever a man loves, he desires at all costs to be near to continuously and uninterruptedly, and he turns himself away from everything that hinders him from being in contact and dwelling with the object of his love. It is clear therefore that he who loves God also desires always to be with Him and to converse with Him. This comes to pass in us through pure prayer. Accordingly, let us apply ourselves to prayer with all our power; for it enables us to become akin to God. Such a man was he who said: "O God, my God, I cry to Thee at dawn; my soul has thirsted for Thee" (Ps. 63:1 LXX). For the man who cries to God at dawn has withdrawn his intellect from every vice and clearly is wounded by divine love.

TROPARION—TONE 4

When the women disciples of the Lord
Learned from the angel the joyous message of Thy Resurrection;
They cast away the ancestral curse and elatedly told the apostles:
Death is overthrown! Christ God is risen,
Granting the world great mercy.

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit, now and ever, and
unto ages of ages. Amen.

KONTAKION—TONE 4

My Savior and Redeemer,

about purity of heart. But the old man did not know Greek and no interpreter could be found. So, seeing our embarrassment, the old man began to speak Greek, saying, "The nature of water is soft, that of stone is hard; but if a bottle is hung directly above the stone, allowing the water to fall drop by drop, it wears away the stone. So it is with the word of God; it is soft and our heart is hard, but the man who hears the word of God often, opens his heart to the fear of God."

"A fisherman does not bait his hook with food he likes. He uses food the fish likes. So with boys." B.P.

Whatever a man loves, he desires at all costs to be near to continuously and uninterruptedly, and he turns himself away from everything that hinders him from being in contact and dwelling with the object of his love. It is clear therefore that he who loves God also desires always to be with Him and to converse with Him. This comes to pass in us through pure prayer. Accordingly, let us apply ourselves to prayer with all our power; for it enables us to become akin to God. Such a man was he who said: "O God, my God, I cry to Thee at dawn; my soul has thirsted for Thee" (Ps. 63:1 LXX). For the man who cries to God at dawn has withdrawn his intellect from every vice and clearly is wounded by divine love.

My Savior and Redeemer,

about purity of heart. But the old man did not know Greek and no interpreter could be found. So, seeing our embarrassment, the old man began to speak Greek, saying, "The nature of water is soft, that of stone is hard; but if a bottle is hung directly above the stone, allowing the water to fall drop by drop, it wears away the stone. So it is with the word of God; it is soft and our heart is hard, but the man who hears the word of God often, opens his heart to the fear of God."

"A fisherman does not bait his hook with food he likes. He uses food the fish likes. So with boys." B.P.

Whatever a man loves, he desires at all costs to be near to continuously and uninterruptedly, and he turns himself away from everything that hinders him from being in contact and dwelling with the object of his love. It is clear therefore that he who loves God also desires always to be with Him and to converse with Him. This comes to pass in us through pure prayer. Accordingly, let us apply ourselves to prayer with all our power; for it enables us to become akin to God. Such a man was he who said: "O God, my God, I cry to Thee at dawn; my soul has thirsted for Thee" (Ps. 63:1 LXX). For the man who cries to God at dawn has withdrawn his intellect from every vice and clearly is wounded by divine love.

Learned from the angel the joyous message of Thy Resurrection;

Glory to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Spirit, now and ever, and
unto ages of ages. Amen.

KONTAKION—TONE 4

My Savior and Redeemer,

about purity of heart. But the old man did not know Greek and no interpreter could be found. So, seeing our embarrassment, the old man began to speak Greek, saying, "The nature of water is soft, that of stone is hard; but if a bottle is hung directly above the stone, allowing the water to fall drop by drop, it wears away the stone. So it is with the word of God; it is soft and our heart is hard, but the man who hears the word of God often, opens his heart to the fear of God."

"A fisherman does not bait his hook with food he likes. He uses food the fish likes. So with boys." B.P.

Whatever a man loves, he desires at all costs to be near to continuously and uninterruptedly, and he turns himself away from everything that hinders him from being in contact and dwelling with the object of his love. It is clear therefore that he who loves God also desires always to be with Him and to converse with Him. This comes to pass in us through pure prayer. Accordingly, let us apply ourselves to prayer with all our power; for it enables us to become akin to God. Such a man was he who said: "O God, my God, I cry to Thee at dawn; my soul has thirsted for Thee" (Ps. 63:1 LXX). For the man who cries to God at dawn has withdrawn his intellect from every vice and clearly is wounded by divine love.
